SERIOUSLY INJURED

Was Joseph Hilton, Who Fell From Moving Freight Cars While Switching Near Taylor Tobacco Company's Switch.

While engaged in helping to switch some cars on the L. & N. line near the J. P. Taylor Tobacco Company's switch yesterday, Joseph Hilton had a very narrow escape from instant death.

Mr. Hilton with the crew was engaged in transferring some cars from the switch to the C. & O. track, and he was acting as brakeman, having three cars to work on. While he was applying the hand brake on one of the cars he slipped and fell between two of the cars and was dragged a short distance before the train stopped and he crawled out from under the car. He was soon found by members of the crew and Dr. Harover, the company's physician, was called. No broken bones nor had cuts were found but Mr. Hilton said that his head was aching him considerably, and it is feared that he may have suffered some internal injuries.

Mr. Hilton has been in the employ of the L. & N. railroad for some ten or twelve years as a freight conductor and it is only recently that he has become a brakeman, owing to a sickness in the business of that road.

He is a married man and has two children.

He was taken to the Paris Hospital this morning and he will undergo a more thorough examination.

BISHOP WOODCOCK TO BE HONOURED ON TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS CONSECRATION.

Louisville, Ky., January 22.—Arrangements have been made public for a fitting celebration of the tenth anniversary of the consecration of the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Woodcock, as bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Kentucky. The consecration anniversary this year comes on St. Paul's day, January 25, and the celebration will begin the day before and conclude the day after, which will extend the event over a period of three days.

Tuesday night, January 26, Bishop and Mrs. Woodcock will hold an open reception at the cathedral, beginning at 8 o'clock. The reception will be open to all, and from present indications it will be largely attended. It is expected that a large representation of Episcopalians from out in the state will come to Louisville for the celebration.

TOBACCO SITUATION AGAIN SERIOUS.

The tobacco situation in the Burley districts of Kentucky was considered in Lexington yesterday at a meeting and thoughtful men of practical experience and it is to be hoped that as a result of their deliberations there may come some relief from the present distressing condition of affairs. Evidently there is something radically wrong with the tobacco market.

With an apparent shortage of twenty-two million pounds, and with the cost of production to the grower at approximately seven cents a pound it is difficult to understand how the average prices can remain at between eight and nine cents unless there are some controlling factors which are purely artificial and in a degree criminal.

Certainly the grower can not market his crop at eight or nine cents when its costs him seven cents to produce it, and when he sees the manufacturer selling the finished product at three or four hundred per cent profit, he fails to understand how such things can be without some unlawful juggling with the fruits of his toil.

The meeting yesterday in the main was conservative in its tone, though none the less determined to resort to every possible means of arriving at some clear understanding of the underlying causes of the faults complained of.

If the big tobacco companies which formerly constituted the "Trust," are again violating the letter and spirit of the law under which the trust was supposed to have been dissolved, it is the duty of the Federal authorities if possible to discover the criminals and bring them to justice.

It is not enough that the landowners of Kentucky and other states should seek a remedy through reduction of the acreage and thereby bear the full brunt of the remedy.

Naturally, good husbandry would dictate methods of economy and efficiency in the managing of the farm, but if the existing law prices are due to unfair and unlawful acts by those seemingly in control of both ends of the tobacco market the parties responsible for these unlawful acts, and not the farmer and the tenant who grow the tobacco, should be the greatest sufferers, once the real source of the trouble is ascertained. Lexington Leader.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED SINCE 1815.

A hundred years ago, during the Waterloo campaign, it required three days for the Duke of Wellington to send a message from the battle front to England, and three days more to receive a reply. But Sir John French, the British field marshal, a hundred years later, makes a visit to England and is able to keep in direct touch with the army by means of the telegraph. Sir John visited Walmer Castle, the home of Prime Minister Asquith, where a council of war was held; went also to London, where he was present at a series of councils during the next two days, spent a considerable time in his own home, receiving messages every hour from headquarters in France, and in no way felt that he was handicapped by his absence from the battle line. This is only one indication of the great changes which have come over the methods of making war in the last hundred years.—Providence Journal.

IN DESPERATE STRAIGHTS.

Mr. Bryan is in desperate straits. His warmest friends have begun to say, "Mr. Bryan is a good man, but..."—New York Sun.

The doings in Europe sure are enough to make the innocent bystander sit up and take notice.

ENGLAND STILL MISTRESS OF THE SEA.

Germany probably has the second-best navy. On it she has spent hundreds of millions of dollars, with England especially in mind; but in actual war with England this navy so far has done Germany very little real good. Her merchant ships have been driven from the sea. English transports have carried troops to the French coast at will under her nose.

Half a dozen German cruisers—until they were run down and sunk—caused some troubles in marine insurance rates, but their actual injury to British commerce was fairly negligible. England's command of the sea seems virtually as secure as though Germany had no navy.

That is what a poor second best must generally come to—it is like the horse that was just good enough to lose the race. Our navy, matched against England's, would no doubt be virtually worthless. So far as England, and her ally, Japan, are concerned, there is no degree of reasonable preparedness short of a fleet that will equal or outclass them both.

We must simply take our chances that there will be no war with them. As circumstances compel us to take some chances on peace, we are willing to take a few more.—Saturday Evening Post.

THE REAL DEVIL OF IT ALL.

If Democrats alone only had to enjoy the hard times they always bring it would be perfectly satisfactory, but it happens to include all of us patriots who save the country when it is to be saved as well as hold the stop-watch on the sunshine and rain. That's the real devil of it all.—Portsmouth Star.

In a Hole.

Uncle Joe Cannon said at a Danville political meeting last month:

"Finance such as that, gentlemen, will land the country in the hole where Mrs. Bill Smith found herself."

Mrs. Bill Smith spent with her husband a two-week vacation at Atlantic City. It was an extravagant vacation. It cleaned them out.

"As they rode back home on the train, sunburned and fatigued, their pocketbooks empty and the next pay day two weeks off, Mrs. Smith sighed and said:

"Well, anyhow, Bill, we'll be all right as soon as we get home. The morning we started off I hid a $10 bill under the pink plush album in the parlor."

"Yes," said Bill, grimly, "yes, I know you did. I found it."

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Maysville Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell if it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment, the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Don't's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Dora Mofford, Maysville, Ky., says: "I had been feeling poorly for some time, before I knew that my kidneys were at fault. I was nervous and dizzy and my back and head ached. I rested poorly and mornings I was all tied out. I read in a local paper how a neighbor had been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills. I used them and before long I was a great deal better. I was able to sleep well and they improved my health."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mofford had. Foster-McBarn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SIGNS POINT TO LONG PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

Washington, January 23.—Business men from Maine to California and from Washington to Florida are authors of protests reaching the capital against the opening of the presidential campaign two years before the time of election. Some are inclined to blame the President's speech at Indianapolis for starting the discussion. Others, more soberly in touch with the drift of affairs in Washington, realize that the campaign already was launched before the President went to Indiana.

The protests against a long campaign are made in the interest of business. Even in the most prosperous times a presidential campaign has a depressing effect on trade. Now, if the campaign is to be prolonged, the effect will be felt more keenly than ever before, the protesters contend.

Unlabeled members, Senators and Representatives realize the truth of the assertions made by the business men. They are even more anxious to stop the trend of affairs, but they realize that a combination of unusual circumstances is going to make the coming race for the presidency an unusually long and hard one.

Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark had something to do with starting the campaign discussion by making announcements that Mr. Wilson must be the standard bearer in 1916. Certain Republican leaders also played their parts in bringing the subject to the front. The Republican successes in the elections last November convinced the leaders that the Republican nomination in 1916 would be worth working for. Since that time there has been especial activity on the part of Senator Borah and Representative Mann. They have lost no opportunity to defend the party they represent. They have been nearly as ready to criticize the Democratic administration. In addition to the Idaho Senator and the Illinois Representative, the same tactics have been adopted by several other Republican leaders in Congress who are supposed to have heard the buzzing of the presidential bee.

ANGEL OF MERCY

On Perryville Battlefield, Mrs. Emily Huff Passed Away.

Mrs. Emily Huff, aged 91 years, is dead at the home of her son, Mr. Tilted Huff, in the west end of the county. Mrs. Huff was noted for her hospitality and goodness of heart and was loved by all her neighbors.

When the battle of Perryville took place around her home she was an angel of mercy to the wounded soldiers and many in pain were eased into eternal rest by her and many owed their lives to her ministering. The morning after the great battle she was out on the field of carnage and felt some one pull at her dress skirt as she passed by. Looking down she saw a Confederate soldier whom she had thought dead, who could just barely speak. He pleaded with her between moans to put a clean shirt on him as his garment was matted and stiff with blood. She did so, and saw that he was carried into a house near by. He finally recovered and returned to his home in Georgia. Several years afterward he wrote to her thanking her for her care and saying that he always felt that he owed his life to her. Mrs. Huff carried her kindly Christianity, all through her long life and leaves a record of many good deeds.—Harrodsburg Herald.

ASHLAND ABOUSED OVER MISSING CHILD.

(Ashland Independent.)

The people of Ashland are becoming greatly wrought up and justly so, over the strange disappearance of Miss Oleeta Reeves, the little 13-year-old school girl who disappeared so suddenly on Tuesday morning, January 12. On the above date this little girl left her home as usual with her books under her arm en route to school at the John Grant Crabbie building. She did not reach the school house that morning and since that time nothing has been heard from her. She has disappeared as though the earth had opened and swallowed her up.

Superintendent Bradner of the public schools, has been very vigilant in his efforts to locate this little girl. He has worked almost day and night on the case since that time. He has run down numerous clues himself and has interested others in doing likewise, but all without avail. Superintendent Bradner has also offered a reward of $50 for any information leading to the location of this little girl. The City Council also did its part by appropriating $50 to pay for the expense in instituting a search.

TAFT ON MARRIAGE.

In an address before the Hebrew Technical School for Girls in New York last Saturday, former President Taft spoke at some length on marriage and here is one thing he said:

I was glad to see in your president's report that only 260 of your girl graduates out of 2,700 got married. That impressed me as showing great sense on the part of the girls. I am not opposed to marriage. No; I am a believer in it. But when a marriage is forced by circumstances conjugal life is not so desirable as single blessedness for the woman. Many women remain single and devote their lives to a noble purpose.

C. & O. MAN OPTIMISTIC.

Washington.—Business and railroad conditions in the United States were pictured to President Wilson as slowly improving by Frank Trumbull of New York, chairman of the railroad legislative advisory committee and chairman of the boards of the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroads. Mr. Trumbull said he did not expect a great business boom, but that gradual betterment of conditions was noticeable throughout the country.

Medell McCormick announced that he had resigned as a member of the National Progressive Committee. McCormick is again a Republican.

The Elkins Ouster bill, similar to the Kansas Ouster bill, providing for the removal of lax city officials, passed the Tennessee state Senate.

The eight members of the Karluk expedition, who have been missing since February, 1914, are dead, according to Commander Bennett.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Miss Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16."

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

WASHINGTON LETTER

THE CONGRESSIONAL MIXUP BEATS MARIE DRESSLER IN PARKER HODS' PLAY.

Cabinet Meetings At Night Don't Suit—Washington Melange.

Washington, January 23.—While wide differences of opinion usually prevail in Congress, it is also true that there are nearly always some members occupying a middle ground. But this does not seem to apply to the controversy over the government ownership of commercial vessels. Practically every member seems to be either radically in favor or radically opposed to this measure. In the discussion of the question many appear to have lost sight of the fact that it is an emergency measure. If the plan should be for a permanent institution it is certain that the friends of the project would be few, although some of the arguments in favor of the system apply with equal force to a permanent institution.

President Wilson holds that it is the obligation of the nation to encourage transportation for the purpose of extending American commerce. He points to the necessity which existed in the early development of the west. There was little tonnage west of the Mississippi river in the days before the transcontinental railroads. The railroads had to be built first and the tonnage developed afterward. Private capital in sufficient amount refused to embark in uncertain enterprises of that character. This resulted in government subsidies. Experience has proven, Mr. Wilson says, that this system is wrong. He thinks it should be avoided in building up a merchant marine.

Those favoring the government ownership of vessels to be used during emergencies and for the advancement of American commerce where discrimination is being shown, point to the millions of dollars that will be wrung from American producers by ship owners while the European war lasts. Sixty millions in additional freight charges will be collected on the cotton crop of this season alone, it is estimated. Those opposing the project fear that it will be the entering wedge to a general system of government ownership. They predict that it would be followed by the taking over of railroads and telegraphs. With regard to the ownership of vessels, they claim there is no limit set on the scheme, which may lead very far afield. Danger of international complications if control of war should be discovered on board a government ship is not minimized by the enemies of the plan. Many take the view that it is simply ship subsidy in disguise.

Treasury Department reports show that the income of the nation is not keeping pace with the expenses. Just what steps will have to be taken to remedy this situation is the source of considerable worry on the part of those who will have to provide ways and means of making up the deficit. The war tax has proven very unpopular and any suggestion looking to its increase is certain to meet with a storm of protest, which would be particularly undesirable at this time. Business depression has caused a falling off in the income and corporation taxes. An additional loss of revenue totaling $45,000,000 will come if sugar is placed on the free list as provided.

Probably most readers of the Congressional Record believe that it is a word-for-word reproduction of remarks made on the floors of the two Houses of Congress. This is not always the case. The remarks of all members are taken down in shorthand. These are transcribed and 45 minutes later are placed in the hands of the member for editing. Each member edits his own "copy." In consequence he is in a position to make any change he desires. Sometimes speeches are rewritten entirely. Occasionally hasty words are spoken in the heat of debate. These generally receive a toning down if they are not eliminated from the Record altogether.

Some objection is being made to this practice. It is claimed that the public has a right to know the exact words uttered by the Senators and Representatives. Some would not permit any revision on the part of the members. Others hold that revision should be confined to grammatical errors or mistakes in statistical facts.

There have been several innovations since Woodrow Wilson moved into the main office in the executive office wing of the White House. Now another has been inaugurated. To utilize time heretofore devoted to other things, the President is meeting his cabinet at night. While the advisors of the executive have not been heard to utter any complaints in regard to the change it is the opinion of the observers that the members enter the cabinet room with longer faces than was the case when daylight sessions were the custom.

active have not been heard to utter any complaints in regard to the change it is the opinion of the observers that the members enter the cabinet room with longer faces than was the case when daylight sessions were the custom.

Residents of the District of Columbia have little notice, oftentimes, of the enactment of laws that vitally affect their interests and welfare. Congress in a way exercises pretty much the same power over the District that the czar of all the Russias does over his vast domain. The people have little voice in the matter. Recently the District had a narrow escape from becoming dry territory. There is no telling how soon a means may be found to bring the question to a vote. If a vote is reached on the question there is little doubt that the saloons will have to go. The people of the District naturally think they should have a voice in a matter of this kind. It is claimed that a perfectly honest vote on such a question can not be obtained in either House of Congress. The members, it is said, are prone to vote in a way that would be to the liking of their constituents at home. Many members doubtless would welcome a chance to vote for prohibition in the District in order to square themselves with those of their constituents who were displeased when they voted against the Holston resolution for nation wide prohibition. This the residents here claim to be unfair.

IN THE ROPED ARENA.
Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, desires to hook up in a clash with "One Round" Davis at Buffalo. Charley White is training at Dal Hawkins' residence for his coming bout with Freddie Welsh in New York. The boxing game is to be tried out soon at Portland, Me. Several other cities in that state have been enjoying the game for some time. Willie Ritchie, ex-champion light weight, is preparing for a campaign among the lighties with the big idea of regaining the title. Jack Dillon, who has been putting up some clever battles of late, is said now to be too heavy for the middleweight division and too light for the heavyweight class.

SMITH AND LEVINSKY IN THIRD BATTLE.
New Orleans, La., January 23.—The ring fans who prefer to see the big men in action are promised a treat at the Westside Athletic Club tomorrow afternoon, when Gusboat Smith and Battling Levinsky will come together for a 20-round battle. Both fighters have been training faithfully since their arrival here from New York and each appears to be in excellent condition for the contest. It will be the third time they have met in the ring.

PRINCE CHRISTIAN STILL POPULAR.
London, January 23.—Prince Christian, who entered upon his eighty-fifth year this week, is one of the few "alien" members of the British royal family who appears to have lost no favor in the eyes of the British public since the beginning of the present war. The principal reason for this, perhaps, lies in the fact that during his long residence in England he has never sought to take part in public life. Indeed, he has never been known to express an opinion on any public question.

PFANSCHMIDT PAGES NEW TRIAL.
Princeton, Ill., January 23.—Rau Pfanschmidt, the alleged murderer of four persons, who was found guilty in Quincy, and when the case was remanded by the Supreme court, found innocent at Macomb, Ill., will be arraigned in the Bureau County court here Monday to stand trial for the third time. Pfanschmidt, now 22 years old, was charged with the murder of his father, mother, sister and Miss Emma Kaempfer, in September, 1912, at the family home near Quincy.

MORMON CHURCH TO AID WAR SUFFERERS.
Salt Lake City, Utah, January 23.—In pursuance of a suggestion made by the president of the Mormon church, donations to assist in caring for the European war sufferers will be made tomorrow at the regular sacrament meetings in every church of the faith throughout the country. The entire amount will be sent to the president of the European mission for distribution among the needy of the various nations at war.

OKLAHOMA TO HAVE AN ILLITERACY COMMISSION.

Superintendent R. H. Wilson is preparing to present to the Legislature a bill, which has for its purpose the banishing of illiteracy from the state of Oklahoma. He is following, more or less, the plan adopted by the state of Kentucky, which was brought about by the activities of Mrs. Clara Wilson Stewart. This is in line with Superintendent Wilson's policy to devote the larger portion of his time during the next administration to the betterment of rural schools.—The Daily Oklahoman.

WOMAN'S FORWARD MOVEMENT CLOSED.

With $8,000 raised, the Woman's Forward Movement, organized to raise $20,000 for the Illiteracy Commission, has closed. Expenses of the organization are to be deducted from this amount, which will leave from $4,000 to $5,000. The remainder of the $20,000 needed by the Illiteracy Commission will be raised by Mrs. Clara Wilson Stewart and Dr. J. G. Embree, a committee appointed by the Illiteracy Commission last May to raise money.

The advent of a banking syndicate into the Missouri Pacific directorate was welcomed in a statement by George J. Gould.

SPORTS

Benny Kanff, the Indianapolis star, seems to be the only Fed player the organized majors have their optics on. The new baseball park at New Orleans will be a much larger plant than the present home of the Pelicans.

Winter dope informs us that Joe Wood, the Red Sox star fliker, saved his season last year by using emery ball.

Charley Carr, former American and Federal League performer, is in line for a berth as baseball coach at Purdue University.

In "Pop" Young, the Pacific Coast League third baseman, Hugh Jennings figures he has landed the right party to look after Detroit's hot corner.

The loss of Lee Magen was a considerable blow to the Cardinals, but now that "Cozy" Dolan is in line Manager Huggins rests somewhat easier.

Pitcher Carroll Brown of the Athletics is the owner of two flourishing billiard rooms, one at Wilkesbarre and the other at Atlantic City.

Nothing doing in the matter of trading Eddie Collins asserts "Old Roman" Coniskey. The star second sacker is hooked up with the White Sox for five years.

A sketch of Clarence Rowland in forms as that Clarence led the Peoria team to the Three-I League pennant in 1911. It should read "near pennant," since Davenport copped the hunting, with Peoria in second place.

At a recent conference of Cleveland scribes it was agreed to call the Naps the "Indians" in the future. The new name was selected in recognition of the "fighting" spirit of the team. And yet it is said that Joe Miller was a great jokesmith.

65,000 HORSES PURCHASED.

John R. Townsend, a prominent horse man of Goshen, N. Y., estimates that something like 65,000 horses have been purchased in the United States in the last three months for the French and British armies. Only about one-half of this number has yet been shipped to Europe, he says. Mr. Townsend was for several weeks engaged in buying warhorses in the west and is therefore in close touch with the situation. The difficulty of finding ships to take them over and the prevalence of sickness among the horses are the only things that stand in the way of much larger exports to the war zone.

Wages paid engineers in some instances are higher than the demands made by the men, according to testimony introduced in the application case.

BOMBS

DROPPED ON DUNKIRK AND 20 PEOPLE KILLED — THOU-SANDS OF AIRCRAFT FLYING OVER EUROPE.

Terrible Stories of Suffering In the Eastern War Zone.

Paris, January 22.—An official statement given out this evening says: "A group of German aeroplanes attacked Dunkirk and nearby coast villages today. They dropped about 80 bombs. There were 20 known victims of the raid of whom seven are dead. One warehouse full of merchandise was burned."

Starving, Freezing and Hunted By Wolves Are Horrors Faced By War-Stricken People.

London, January 22.—A dispatch from Kiev, Russia, to Reuters' Telegram Company says: "Hiding from the Austrians, who are retreating from Bukovina, the population of the Carpathians have left their homes and are living in pits dug in the deep snow, where many are perishing from exposure and starvation. Their plight is rendered more dangerous by the hungry wolves that are hunting them."

The suffering in Belgium, which has been the theatre of the most terrible of the war, is for the moment in the background when compared to the destitution of non-combatants in Palestine, Poland and the Carpathians. From Palestine Jewish colonists continue to flee to Egypt, being conveyed as rapidly as possible by the American cruiser Tennessee.

The destitution of Poland is said to be terrible and a new appeal for aid has been issued by Ignace Paderewski and Henry Sienkiewicz, who speak for all factions. It is said that the situation in Poland is far worse than it is in Belgium.

The fleeing people of Bukovina are living like animals in caves and fighting with wolves for such sustenance as the snow-covered country affords.

Another Raid On January 27.

Berne, January 22.—It is reported here that Zeppelins will make another aerial attack on England January 27, the birthday anniversary of Emperor William.

Gorman Fleet Becoming Active.

London, January 22.—A Daily Mail (Copenhagen) dispatch says: "The German destroyers and submarines left Heligoland Roads Wednesday, and news from many sources in Germany points to the fleet becoming more active."

They Were Zepps of Latest Vintage.

Copenhagen, January 22.—Messages received here from Berlin declare that the airships which raided England the night of January 20, were Zeppelins of the latest type. They went forth from a secret base on the German frontier, carrying a full complement of men, heavy guns and ammunition.

War Line-Up Changed.

Berlin, January 22.—The German Minister of War, Lieutenant General Erich von Falkenhayn, has resigned and has been replaced by Major General Von Hindenburg. The former war minister has been made a general and retains his position as chief of staff.

WHAT WAS WORSE.

"Can you imagine," said the famous teacher of natural history, "any thing worse than a giraffe with a sore throat?"
"Yes, sir," came the answer from one boy.
"What, pray?" asked the teacher in surprise.
"A centipede with corns."—Selected.

WINTER BASEBALL JOKES.

(Times-Star.)
Organized ball is up against it good and plenty. That story of trailing players for dogs has roused the frozen wrath of the American Kennel Club. The wailer is one of the few things that can be tipped without losing its balance.

On a gamble, which is the worst pest? The man who wants to tell you about the plans for his new house, the man who repeats what his baby says, the fighter who nibbles his knockout or the ball player who tries to explain a home play?

It's a queer world. The pitcher who grows about being overworked in August is always the first to sign up for a winter tour, where he'll be expected to pitch every other day.
The problem of finding employment for the white hopes seems near a satisfactory solution. Why not hire them as guards to maintain order at a chess game?
